Loafers Don't Get Pay Raise Says Board

They didn't actually hip-hip-hoorray but you could see they were pretty happy about it when J. O. Handley, their chairman, informed the school board last night that they weren't legally required to raise a lazy teacher's pay.

Tenure has been a sore spot with the board, and the salary schedule which presumably provided yearly raises regardless of merit was another. These "automatic" raises depended on the recommendation of Superintendent Stuart Mitchell, and the board members thought that they were bound by the recommendations. Somebody found out this is not the case and last night the school board licked its chops over the list of tenure teachers whom the superintended recommended for rehire and raise in salary. The board has to rehire them but they don't have to give the recommended raises. They said they'd brood over that list until the special budget meeting Thursday, next week.

In effect, the board can't fire the loafers but they can keep them on their present salary until they show signs of earning their pay.

The board approved a petty letter from Principal Warren Edwards to the Youth Center suggesting that the kids put on their Youth Follies during the Easter vacation (when everybody is out of town) because the rehearsals kept the kids up at night. Edwards also suggested that they not hold their parade because it takes up school time. Your editor pointed out (to no effect) that the people love the kids' parade, and that the kids are the only people who can hold a parade in Carmel.

The kids, besides puting on a show all the community enjoyed, raised $1400 which will go toward maintainance of their Center. Congratulations rather than criticisms would be in order.

Dr. Roderick Clayton Files As Candidate For School Board

Dr. Roderick Clayton, civilian instructor in physics and biology at the Navy Post Graduate School in Monterey, and outgoing Carmel P.T.A. president, filed candidacy papers this week for the one vacancy on the Carmel Unified School Board which will occur when Mrs. Howard Elton Clark's term expires next month.

Mrs. Clark, who filed for re-election early in the week, withdrew as a candidate when Dr. Clayton filed.

"I believe Dr. Clayton will make a fine board member," she stated yesterday. "I was happy to serve on the School Board as long as I was needed but I feel that Dr. Clayton will carry on admirably my ideas and ideals. He also has two children in the school system." She has served one term.

Dr. Clayton says, "By virtue of my background I believe that I can make a valuable contribution to the school system, particularly in the fields of academic standards and curriculum."

Dr. Clayton came to Carmel in June, 1951, to do research as a Merck fellow at the Hopkins Marine Station. In July of 1952 he

J. P. KUNSTLE AND PORSCHE

At 1:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon, 35 racers will stand shuddering as the starter crouches, flag held low, for what will seem to tensed drivers and spectators an eternity of seconds. Finally the flag flashes, clutches are shapped, and several thousand horsepower are released to send the pack away from the start.

Number 118 in this race for the Pebble Beach Cup is a sleek red rear-engined Porsche Spyder. It's driver is John Pierre Kunstle of Carmel, and if past performances are repeated, he'll be one of the leaders into that fast and dangerous first turn. With luck, he'll be the first to take the checkered flag at the end of the 100 miles, with the winner's prerogative to run another 100-mile grind against the big cars in the Del Monte Trophy race.

While naturally the local favorite, handsome Swiss-born John Kunstle is also one of the top sports car drivers on the coast. In over 30 races, driving various cars, he has consistently won his class and frequently run away from more powerful cars which, theoretically, it should be impossible for him to catch. Last fall, driving a stock Porsche Speedster in a race at Santa Barbara, he trounced a field of larger-engined cars so emphatically that indignant runners-up protested his win on grounds that the Speedster had been modified. After exhaustive checks proved it hadn't, a group of enthusiasts calling themselves "The J. P. Kunstle Fan Club" sponsored a full-page ad in a race program chortling over their hero's victory. Of the scores of trophies he has received, the one John valued most was sent him by a group of Porsche owners following his win in last year's Salinas races: a bottle of fine vintage champagne and a note thanking him for a beautiful race.

Road racing is an amateur sport demanding much time, money and preparation from competitors and offering no monetary rewards, and John Kunstle is uncomplicated about his reasons for participating in it: he loves to drive, and enjoys the challenge of top competition.

His enthusiasm for sports cars was active long before he left his native Geneva, where he probably would have remained but for a delightful American girl named Betsy Cain. John and Betsy met in 1950 on the Riviera, she on a summer tour with several other Smith College undergraduates and John vacationing after a stint in the Swiss army. They were engaged in Geneva before Betsy returned to complete her studies at Smith and were married in 1951 in New York. Their first sports car, an

Voters Happy Horace Lyon Again Mayor

Horace Lyon, who of all mayors more nearly approaches the citizen's emotional concept of Mayor of Carmel, took up the gavel Tuesday night to preside over a "new" city council for another term of office, knowing he has the friendship and confidence of the voters. After 35 absentee ballots were counted by the "old" council, acting as an election board, Lyon's official tally was 831, leading by nearly 200 the other elected candidates. New councilman James Buffington received 640; incumbent Francis Whitaker came in third with 632.

Legally the council members may choose their own mayor but traditionally the people expect them to select the candidate who has received the greatest number of votes in the election.

One of the absentee ballots came from Stuttgart, Germany, where Peter Lyon, the mayor's son is stationed with the army.

Some surprise was occasioned when the new council (after a recess and private discussion) accepted their commissions. Lyon took his place at the head of the table, as was expected, but Francis Whitaker sat down in the health and safety commission's chair that had been vacated by retiring councilwoman Geraldine Smith, and newly elected councilman James Buffington took Whitaker's street commissioner's chair at the left hand of City Attorney Tom Perry. Mayor Lyon announced his election as mayor and said that the commissioners had been assigned according to the wishes of the council members, and that Whitaker preferred not to continue as street commissioner. The hold over councilmen retained their commissions: Carl Patnude, fire; John Chitwood, police.

Preceding the seating of the new council there was a perfunctory meeting of the outgoing council when two ordinances were given second reading "by title only" and other matters (such as the Ninth Avenue Poison Oak Foot Path and radar traffic control) were put over until May 9.

Carmel To Fight Planners' O. K. On Subdivision

Carmel Planning Commission voted unanimously yesterday afternoon to protest to the County Board of Supervisors the brush off they received from the County Planning Commission at a public hearing on April 10 when they objected to a number of features in the Monterey Peninsula Associates' South Carmel Hills Subdivision.

Monterey Peninsula Associates are the subdividers of the Mission Fields' Tract that will be an "area blot" in a few years according to Larry Livingston, Jr., planning consultant engaged by Carmel to draw up a master plan for the city and to protect the community from undesirable fringe development.

Carmel appeals to the supervisors for a second chance before the County Planning Commission. At last week's "hearing" Carmel found a closed-mind group of Commissioners prepared in advance to accept the recommendations of their technical group.

South Carmel Hills plan was received by the Carmel Commission barely two weeks before a public hearing on the subdivision was to be held by the County Commission. Carmel Planning Commission asked and was granted two more weeks to prepare recommendations based on study by their Land Use committee and a report from City Planning Consultant Larry Livingston, Jr. The Livingston report was sent to the County Commission the week before the April 10 County public hearing. Recommendations of the Carmel Planning Commission were sent to Salinas the morning of the hearing, and, that afternoon, Carmel Planning Commission Chairman Frank Putnam and Commissioner George L. Willox appeared in person before the County Planning Commission to discuss each of the recommendations. They were allowed to speak and did. No public discussion of their recommendations took place. When they were through speaking the report of the county subdivision subcommittee was read and unanimously adopted by the County Planning Commission. The report ignored

Kids Work Hard For Bond Issue

"Get out the vote" . . . "Vote YES on the school bond issue April 26." . . . "Sign up for the parade". These are common words around Carmel High School this month. Every student has some part of promoting the bond issue, whether it is speaking to a group in town about the importance of the election or convincing their parents that they should vote and that that vote should be affirmative. Freshmen and Seniors alike have a part to play.

The Publications class has been busy for the last two weeks preparting a six page issue of The Padre about student opinion on the bond election. This paper will be distributed throughout Carmel on Tuesday by members of the Freshman class.

Trulee Scarlett, John Thompson, and Kyrk Reid are hard at work organizing a baby-sitting and transportation service for the day of the election. High school students will be available from seven to seven on Thursday to baby-sit for or take voters to the polls or both. All one needs to do to take advantage of this service is to call 7-6483 on election day.

Toni Hamilton has made plans for a parade to be held on Thursday. It will start at 11:30 and go through town. The high school band, the language clubs, the Stu-

Bonnie Giles Announces Six Winners In Legion Auxiliary Essay Contest

This year's winners in the American Legion Auxiliary Americanism Essay Contest are Pamela Hull, Karen Swanson and Gail Mackenzie. Each took first place in her age division. Roberta Thaler, Bill True and Patty Elston were the second prize winners.

The outcome of the annual contest was announced yesterday by Mrs. Jack C. Giles, unit and district contest chairman.

Pamela Hull, sixth grade at Junipero Serro School, took first in the first division which embraced grades 4, 5 and 6. Roberta Thaler, fifth grade at Serra, was second. Subject in this division was The Care and Use of Our Country's Flag.

Karen Swanson, eighth grade at Junipero Serra, was first place winner in the second class, grades 7, 8 and 9. Bill True of Sunset's eighth grade was second. This group wrote on The Liberty Bell.

Gail MacKenzie, a sophomore at Carmel High School, won first in class 3, which included grades 10, 11 and 12. Second was Patty Elston, also a sophomore at Carmel High. The Constitution of the United States was their subject.

First place awards of $5 and an Americanism certificate and second place prizes of $3 and a certificate will be given to the respective winners in each class on May 15 in evening ceremonies at the Legion Hall conducted by the Carmel Unit Post 512 Auxiliary. Judges were Mrs. Karen Hicks, Mrs. Florence Updike and Miss Babs Balzer.

The essays will now be entered in the district contest. Judges for this competition are William Giles, Eugene Scheffer, and Mrs. O. B. Jones, Jr.

CARMEL HIGH TRACK TEAM EDGES HOLLISTER; HOSTS PACIFIC GROVE TODAY

It's five down and one to go for the Carmel High School varsity track team which holds dual meet victories over every school in the league except Pacific Grove, and the Breakers are scheduled to get the shock treatment at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Last Saturday, Coach Buzz Rainer's charges got over the big one as they nipped the Hollister Haybalers in a touch and go meet at the Hollister track. Billed as a three-way meet including Gilroy as the third entry, Saturday's meet was strictly a bitter struggle between the Padres and the Haybalers. Gilroy placed third in the shot-put and fourth in the discus and that completed the Mustang scoring for the day.

Carmel's muscular discus ace, Pierre Olivie, stretched the platter school record to 132 feet as he unwound his best toss of the season. This is also one of the best records in Northern California and stamps sturdy Pierre as a strong favorite to win the discus in the big CCAL Meet slated for May 12 at Salinas. While Olivie was setting a new record his mates came through with steady first-place efforts to offset the great Hollister depth. A fine clutch performance by Phil Durbrow in the pole-vault produced the final points which clinched the meet. Tied with three Hollister vaulters and with one jump remaining, the lanky sophomore swung over the bar with inches to spare and wrapped up the victory for Carmel. Other varsity point-getters were Mike Mosolf, first in the high-jump and broad jump and second in the low-hurdles, David Ostrancer, a winner in the 220, Mervin Sutton, first in the 440, Don Petty, second in the shot-put, David Gray, second in discus, Hampton Stewart, a winner in 880 and fourth in high-jump, Roger Smith, high-hurdles and high-jump, and Mike McCormick in the 880.

Carmel's lightweight squad couldn't match the depth of the Hollister Hayseeds but finished in front of Gilroy with points to spare. Fine sprint performance by Tony Bingham and Bert Macahilig topped the showing of the Little Padres. Other lightweight scorers were Norman Bykerk, Bill Harder, Bob McCormick, Buzz Richardson, Phil White, and Bob Forbes.

PADRE NINE WHIPS GONZALES & PACIFIC GROVE

With Dick Jennings turning in two masterful pitching performances, Carmel High's varsity baseball team moved into strong contention for first place by posting league victories over Gonzales and Pacific Grove. Carmel's chubby righthander handcuffed Gonzales with three hits as he blanked the valley lads, 3 to 0. The Padres took an early lead at Gonzales as Bob Michela and Jennings teamed up for a double steal to post a solo in the second frame and got the insurance runs in the fourth canto as West Whitaker hit a clutch single with two runners on the paths.

Pacific Grove put up a stubborn battle before bowing to the Padres, 4 to 3, in a tense loosely-played game. All locked up at 3-3 in the sixth inning, it took Bill McCormack's booming triple to pull the game out of the fire for the Padres. Little Bill got the wood on one of Ed Esteban's high curves for a blow which scored Bill Hook from first base. Bill got on the initial sack by working Estaban for a walk.

The Padres tallied three times in the first inning as Estaban developed a streak of wildness to walk three Carmel hitters and a solid single by Jack Jennings shoved the runners across..

Mike Mosolf started on the mound for Carmel but developed control trouble to walk in two Breaker runs before Jennings came to his rescue and put out the fire. Dick pitched superb ball the rest of the way, pitching himself out of several jams occasioned by sloppy support in the field.

Keeping Water Safe

That is one of our great responsibilities. We watch safety and quality constantly.

In addition to regular testing of the water supply by inspectors of the County Health Board we carry on our own systematic program. For example, we make bacteriological analyses of water taken from 24 different points each week and weekly examinations from 27 locations for taste, odor, acidity and and alkalinity. Hundreds of tests for various purposes are conducted each year in our own laboratories which are equipped with the most modern apparatus. Our filter plant keeps the water clear and sparkling.

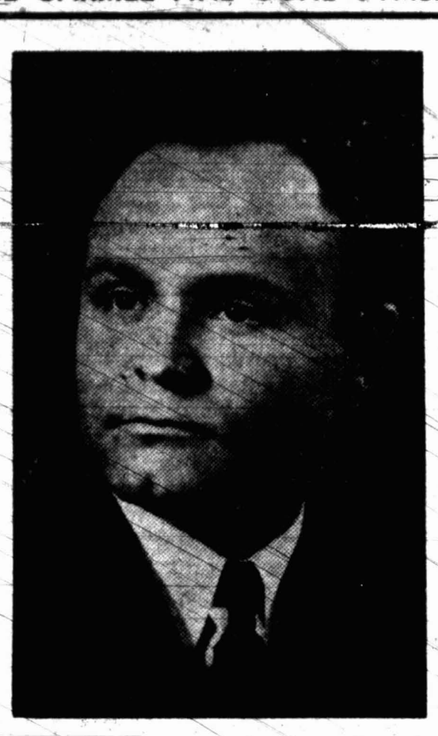
Blue Bird To Serve "Kentucky" Chicken

Mrs. Virginia Piercy, owner, announced this week that The Blue Bird has been selected as one of three restaurants in California to serve "Kentucky Fried Chicken." This gourmet dish, originated by Colonel Harland Saunders of Corbin, Kentucky, is prepared from one of the few recipes ever granted trademark registration by the U.S. Patent Office. During a recent Carmel visit, a representative of Colonel Saunders lunched at The Blue Bird, was captivated by the atmosphere, and subsequently made arrangements with Mrs. Piercy to add Kentucky Fried Chicken to her menus.

Mrs. Piercy's own chefs, already experts, received instruction in the concocting of Kentucky Fried Chicken. The recipe consists of seasoning plump, young birds with a special milk preparation, herbs and spices, and then a delicate, 7-minute browning of the chicken in deep, covered kettles of specific design.

Mrs. Piercy, therefore, announces that The Blue Bird now is able to serve local gourmets and visitors one of the south's historic and delectable chicken dishes, cooked to order, in less than ten minutes.

The Blue Bird will continue to offer also its regular a la carte menu consisting of late breakfast, luncheon, and dinner.



The Struggle For Asia will be the subject of a talk, illustrated with colored slides, presented at the Girl Scout House in Carmel, April 26, at 8:00 o'clock. The speaker will be Cecil H. Hinshaw, pictured above, lecturer, writer, and former president of William Penn College.

The public is invited. No admission charge.

Mr. Hinshaw recently traveled around the world, spending eight months in 19 countries. In Finland he participated in a Quaker-Baptist conference with Russian clergymen and conferred with the former Secretary of Defense. Elsewhere he visited leaders such as William Mensching of Germany, Vinova Bhave in India, and T. Kagawa in Japan.

Cecil Hinshaw has studied at Friends University, Denver University, Iliff School of Theology, and Harvard University. He has devoted several years to pastoral work, written repeatedly on problems of war and peace, lectured throughout the country and served on the faculties at Friends University, William Penn College — where he was president for five years — and Pendle Hill, the Friends school for graduate study near Philadelphia.

He represents the Fellowship of Reconciliation and is being sponsored by Monterey Peninsula Friends Meeting.

Carmel To Fight Planner's O. K. On New Subdivision

Carmel recommendations. (Prime recommendation of the Carmel group was for larger lot sizes in the subdivision in keeping with already developed property in the area.)

"A shocking experience," said Dudley Swim who had gone to the County meeting as a private citizen and yesterday afternoon appeared before the Carmel Commission in the same capacity to state that "the Carmel Planning Commission had been affronted."

"The worst experience I have seen since coming to live in Monterey County. There was no public discussion of the matter. The situation was railroaded through and decision rendered on behalf of the subdivider." he continued.

"I hope," said Swim, "the Carmel Commission and the people of Carmel will fight."

The Carmel Planning Commission, after full opinions had been given by each member, unanimously moved to lodge a strong personal protest.

"I hope," said Chairman Putnam, "that if South Carmel Hills is re-submitted for further consideration, we will have as support, the voice of a great number of people from this area. Present at the hearing in Salinas," he added.

Plans were also discussed as to how the County Planning Commission could be "prodded" into submitting all future subdivision plans to Carmel Commission in time for recommendations to be prepared for full consideration by the county subdivision subcommittee. Immediate exploration of the zoning of all land adjacent to Carmel was urged by Commissioner Willox, also full observation of lot sizes in areas zoned for building.

Building Inspector Adams suggested "direct political action" in matters dealing with future subdivisions and remarked that the Citizens' Advisory Committee was a group capable of such action.

Art Institute Humming

Keith Newhouse has come from Chicago to spend two months studying with John and Pat Cunningham at the Carmel Art Institute. Mr. Newhouse heard about the school from his former advertising agency partner, Ferrin Whittaker, who came to Carmel to study with Pat and John, and is now an exhibiting member of the Carmel Art Association.

Another new student at the Institute is Judy Kampf who has a bachelor's degree in art from Columbia University and a master's degree in the same field from Stanford.

Recently graduated, after three years study with the Cunninghams, is Joe Feurborn who already has had his work accepted at the Raymond and Raymond Galleries, the Rotunda Gallery of the City of Paris and Gump's, all in San Francisco.

Both Pat and John are currently exhibiting in one man shows. Pat's show is in the Utah State Gallery, the Art Barn, in Salt Lake City; and John's pictures are on display in Mexico City.

Pat has also been invited by Katharine Kuh, curator of modern painting at the Art Institute of Chicago, to exhibit in their Sixteenth Annual Exhibition of Contemporary American Artists at the Chicago school.

Open House At Remodelled Wayfarer Sunday; Architects Concolino And Willox Kept Intimacy, Proportions

On Sunday afternoon The Church of the Wayfarer will hold Open House from 2:00 to 5:00 o'clock so that members and friends may inspect the newly remodeled Community Church which has played so vital a role in the Life of Carmel for more than half a century.

William D. Concolino, A.I.A., associated with Architect George W. Willox of Carmel, found that the problem involved expansion of a church held in such deep and nostalgic affection by its members that they wished nothing changed.

"It was important to achieve the expansion without losing the intimate character of the church," says William Concolino, "not only in the interior, but we worked for nine months during construction without defacing the gardens or landscaping." (This latter problem was solved by renting city property on Monte Verde Street, where workmen piled materials, hauled cement, and confined supplies, deliveries and construction equipment.

Architects Concolino and Willox have doubled seating capacity in the nave from 120 to 204, and arranged for seating of 80 more persons, in an adjoining lounge separated from the church, when desirable, by a motor-driven wall panel.

A choir loft to hold 12 persons has been built above the narthex and it has an outdoor staircase.

An organ chamber has been constructed to the right of the narthex to accommodate a 12-pipe organ. Windows have been added in side walls of the nave of the church. All of this has been accomplished without visible change to the Wayfarer. The intimacy remains, the charming proportions, the hand-carved walnut paneling, the chancel with its altar backgrounded by the familiar gold brocade.

"Many of the features of which we are most proud are invisible," Architect Concolino explains. "The Church of the Wayfarer now has one of the finest heating and ventilating systems anywhere and this extends from chapel, to lounge, to new Fellowship Room."

The new Fellowship Room built beneath the Seventh Street buildings provides seating for 250 in an auditorium-style hall, with stage, dressing rooms, and understage storage for folding chairs and other equipment. Here will be held Wayfarer seasonal pageants, meetings of the church membership, and social events.

A minister's study, offering one wall of bookshelves and another of glass, encompassing a splendid ocean view, has been constructed to the left of the chancel. A church office and library follow along the corridor. The new construction included installation of a complete sound system. Both spoken service, and choir and organ musical interludes can be amplified to the Fellowship Room downstairs, and to the lounge, while the Fellowship Room can use the same system as a public address device.

Sunday worship services were conducted in the remodeled Church of the Wayfarer for the first time last Sunday. How did the expanded seating capacity, the baseboard ventilating system, the new sound amplifying device, the recessed choir loft, the acoustics—everything else—stand up during their first "test" run? "They worked," smiled Architect Concolino, "I was there."

ART SHOW AT TOWN HOUSE

A watercolor and oil show of Mary Fitch Greenwood's work is on exhibition at Carmel Foundation Town House and will remain for the rest of the month. The pictures may be seen Monday through Friday, 10:00 to 5:00 o'clock

Mrs. Greenwood studied under Otto Stark and also Mabel West in Indianapolis, and is a graduate of the Chicago Art Institute. Her special field was decorative design. She spent three years in the life classes of Louis J. Millet. She has exhibited in various galleries in the mid-West. Aside from her work as a painter, she is a commercial artist, working in many mediums. Perhaps she is best known for her newspaper and magazine advertising art.

A Tribute to The Church of the Wayfarer

We who have enjoyed the privilege of participating in the remodeling and reconstruction of The Church of the Wayfarer take pride in its completion.

Through its more than fifty years of growth and development, The Church of the Wayfarer has remained an integral part of the spiritual and community life of Carmel-by-the-Sea.

The remodeled church, newly equipped with facilities to meet the expanding needs of members and friends, stands as tribute to the fellowship, generosity and vision which made it possible.

The 1956 Artists at Work series will open with a demonstration by Alfred Wands (shown above with Mrs. Wands). He will paint a mountain landscape in oil. The program is scheduled for 8:00 o'clock on Tuesday evening in the Carmel Art Association Gallery on Dolores Street, and is again presented by the Carmel Adult School in co-operation with the Carmel Art Association, under the direction of Kay Rogers. There will be four programs, and the artists to appear after Mr. Wands will be: Bernice Huber, ceramist; Ben Messick, teacher, lecturer and painter; and Jesse Corsant, portrait artist.

This is a free program, open to the public.

Alfred Wands has been coming to Carmel on painting trips for several years from his home in Denver. Before arriving in Denver, he was on the staff of the Cleveland Museum of Art and was head of the Art Department of Colorado Women's College for 16 years. His paintings hang in permanent collections in five American Art Museums, including the Palace of the Legion of Honor in San Francisco.

He has been awarded 29 prizes throughout this country, one recently a first in landscape in the Denver Art Guild, and he is a member of a number of art societies, including the Carmel Art Association. Of his work, which comprises subjects such as landscape, flowers and marines, the art critic for the Chicago Daily Tribune has written: "He paints the West with feeling and beauty; the mountains are his main theme and his canvases are rich in vigor and color; strong impressions of a land that is difficult to paint, so majestic and changing it is."

STEVENSON VOLUNTEERS

Extensive pre-primary plans were formulated April 9 at Casa Serrano, 415 Pacific Street, Monterey, where the Volunteers for Stevenson, Monterey Peninsula group supporting Adlai E. Stevenson for the presidency, held their second meeting.

Del Neel served as temporary chairman, and informal committees were formed, for active campaigning in Monterey Peninsula areas prior to the California June 6 primary election. Among those serving on committees are Mrs. Marie Alley, Pacific Grove; Mr. and Mrs. Stephen B. Kahn, Carmel, and Mrs. Louise Oberbeck, Del Rey Oaks. Miss Louise Foster of Carmel is acting as pro-tem corresponding secretary of the Volunteers for Stevenson group.

A third meeting is planned for Friday night, April 20, at Casa Serrano, at 8:00 o'clock. Anyone interested in joining the Volunteers for Stevenson or in participating in activities and plans, is invited to telephone Del Neel, 2-6191, Monterey.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

A letter to a newspaper, not long ago, told of a pleasant custom which one set of parents found most rewarding. One night each week they took all of their children to the library, to return old books and borrow new ones, and to read a while and take in the atmosphere of books. It is a very good thing to encourage your children to read books, but it is a still better thing to go with them to a place where books make their home and to there have a shared pleasure in books. If you do this better thing, it is more than possible that all their lives your children will experience that comfortable sense of togetherness when they have books to read.

We now have another book on the Dead Sea Scrolls. We first bought the Scrolls from the Dead Sea by Edmund Wilson, and now we have The Dead Sea Scrolls by Millar Burrows. This one is larger and gives the complete account of the discoveries, and it also includes many translations from the manuscripts.

Nathaniel Benchley wrote a biography of his father, Robert Benchley, which is clever, warm, and an altogether delightful picture of the famous humorist. The title of the book is the title of the man, Robert Benchley.

A novel with scene in Saigon is The Quiet American by Graham Greene. This is somewhat different from his earlier novels, and it has had a variety of reviews. Some readers think it is wonderful, and some just the opposite. You must judge for yourself, as always, because after all, reviews are just opinions.

A small but very well done novel is Laurens van der Post's Bar of Shadow. It tells a story of the last great war, from the memory side.

The Family of Man, edited by Edward Steichen, is one of the most emphatic collections of photographs that this librarian has ever seen. These photographs were made in all parts of the world and embrace all the times in the life of all mankind.

The much discussed book by Dr. George Crile entitled Cancer and Common Sense is included in the books to go out this week. It is a calm discussion of cancer and it is compassionate. It should have a wide audience.

If this column today seems a little skiparoundish, a little hitherandyonish, it is due to excitement and goose bumps. This librarian is going on a vacation, smartly decorated with an orchid corsage from the staff. So no more Notes for a couple of weeks. Can you bear this deprivation? Adios, amigos! See you soon!

Robert John Shop Has 1st Anniversary

This month the Robert John Shop in the Pine Inn commences its second year in Carmel. The shop which features hand-made cape-skin and suede jacekts, belts and handbags for women, and handcrafted boots, slippers and sandals for both men and women, opened in its Pine Inn location in April of 1955.

There are also Robert John Shops in Greenwich Village, New York, and in Palo Alto, The John Robert John shops. The designer, who works exclusively with leathers, goes to Europe annually to select hides at Capri, Italy. The skins are tanned in the U.S. and Britain, the only two countries with facilities to process the leathers for Robert John's type of apparel and accessories.

Miss Mary Sargent, familiar to the sports world for her many championship golf titles, is the Carmel manager (and associate owner) of the Pine Inn Robert John store. She is a member of the Monterey Peninsula Country Club, and played in last week's California Women's State Championship tourney at the California Golf and Country Club, South San Francisco. Miss Sargent is represented in the Museum of the Hall of Fame for Ladies' Golf at Augusta, Georgia. Among the championship titles she holds are: Northern California Women's Golf Championship; Pebble Beach Open; Colorado State Champion; Memphis, Tennessee, City Champion; Massachusetts State Champion and Colorado Springs, Broadmoor Invitational Golf Championship.

At one time the owner of a Carmel dress shop, Miss Sargent also has had an extensive career background in cosmetic and women's fashion merchandising, and in advertising.

Last year in California

Taxes on beer were enough to build a highway from San Francisco to Yosemite

We Californians are the drivingest people on earth. It's a staggering task to make our highway system grow faster than new car registrations. Almost a quarter of our state taxes goes for building, maintaining and regulating roadways.

In the light of these facts it's important to know that taxes on beer—$16,200,000 for just last year alone—would be enough to build a two-lane road from San Francisco to Yosemite. Taxes all Californians pay would be that much higher if the brewers and sellers of fine beers and ales weren't around to shoulder a substantial part of the load.

Beer Belongs to California Prosperity

DON'T BE STAMPEDED!

There IS opposition to the so-called "oil conservation" measure being circulated in California

Its promoters are* Standard Oil, Richfield Oil, and several other major international oil companies with HUGE ARABIAN OIL INVESTMENTS

They have already spent several million dollars to propagandize their scheme. They are planning to spend millions more to put it over at the November election.

WHY?

In the public interest?

Or in their own interest?

Why did they by-pass your representatives in the State Legislature?

Were they afraid that committee hearings and floor debate would expose their "conservation" bill as a greedy and arrogant OIL CONTROL device to give them MONOPOLY over the oil business in California?

Why didn't they consult the hundreds of small independent California producers, refiners and marketers?

Was it because they want to choke off competition from the independents? If the independents are throttled, won't the major international oil companies flood California with Arabian oil and line their pockets with fabulous profits?

HOW WILL OIL CONTROL AFFECT YOU?

What will it mean to the property owners of California?

How many California workers will it throw out of jobs?

What will it cost the State in wealth and taxes?

THE CALIFORNIA OIL INDUSTRY OPERATES TODAY—AND HAS OPERATED FOR YEARS—UNDER STRICT STATE CONSERVATION LAWS. THESE LAWS ARE THE BEST IN THE NATION.

YES, there IS opposition to this OIL CONTROL scheme; and there will be growing opposition from an aroused public when the true story is told.

Don't be STAMPEDED! Get the FACTS! Don't be MISLED!

Dr. & Mrs. Gray's Surprise Party

Last weekend, prior to the holding of first Sunday services in the recently remodeled Church of the Wayfarer, members of the church participated in a "Clean-up Party," which culminated Friday evening in a surprise for Dr. and Mrs. K. Fillmore Gray, and their sons, Stephen and Stanton, all of whom will leave on Monday for three months in Europe.

Over 100 members of the church, garbed in slacks, cottons and hard-work clothes, joined forces at Seventh and Lincoln Friday and Saturday to serve as clean-up crew, along with workmen, on the handsomely expanded church edifice. Windows were washed, pews and antique walnut polished, carpeting laid and brooms, mops and elbow grease were much in evidence. Children and adults alike comprised the "clean-up party."

At 7:00 o'clock Friday evening, in the just-completed Fellowship Room of the church building, church members gathered to greet Dr. and Mrs. Gray, Stephen and Stanton. The Grays, believing they were coming only to the church's monthly Couples' Club social gathering, found, instead, that members of the church had prepared for them a going-away present, and an informal bon voyage party.

The presents were checks of $15 and $25 for the boys, Stanton and Steven, and a check for $864.00 for Mrs. Gray, an expression of gratitude to her and Dr. Gray for their service as Minister and "First Lady" of their church.

After coffee and refreshments, "clean-up crew", church members and guests gave Dr. and Mrs. Gray a gala bon voyage party with singing, charades and impromptu song lyrics inspired by the journeyings to come.

Manns Off For Europe

Michael and Grete Mann write that they are leaving by air on Saturday for a summer in Europe. Michael is now violist with the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra which gives the last concert of the current season the night before the Manns leave. In Europe Michael will give concerts in Germany, France, Italy, Spain and the Scandinavian countries. The Manns will also go to Switzerland to visit their two sons, Fridolin and Tuny, who are in school in Zurich, and also to see both Grete's and Michael's families who live in Zurich. After the concert tour is over they have taken a house at Capri for the rest of the summer and will return to Pittsburgh in the fall for the first concert of the symphony. Michael, son of the late Thomas Mann, and Grete made their home in Carmel for several years.

Knudsens Arrive For Races

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Knudsen of Happy Valley, near Orinda, will come to Carmel this weekend for the road races. They will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lofton. The Knudsens make the road races the occasion for an annual spring visit to Carmel, and, until last year, were regular summer visitors here. Last summer they remained at home as they were in the process of moving into a new house in Happy Valley.

Musical Art Program

Peggy and Milton Salkind of Sausalito will be artists for the first concert of the year of the Musical Art Club to be held in the Carmel Art Association Gallery on April 28 at 8:30 o'clock in the evening.

These two young players will give a four-hand one-piano recital. The program ranges from music by Mozart to the contemporary Robert Kurka. The Salkinds were featured soloists with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra in last summer's West Coast premiere of Benjamin Britten's Scottish Rhapsody for Two Pianos and Orchestra. Next month they are scheduled to appear in Boston as soloists under Arthur Fiedler with the Boston Pops Orchestra.

Concerts are open to members and guests they invite. All programs will be held this year at the Art Gallery.

Democratic Luncheon

The Carmel Women's Democratic Club is holding a Candidates Casserole Luncheon on April 26 at 12:30 o'clock in the Bricklayer's Union Hall, 629 Pearl Street, Monterey. Senator Richard Richards and William K. Stewart, running for Congress; and State Senator Fred Farr, seeking reelection to the Assembly, will be speakers. No reservations for the luncheon are necessary and there will be a small charge, according to Mrs. Jeannette Parkes, hospitality chairman.

Shakespeare Garden Meeting

Mrs. Fred Farley, member of the English department of the College of the Pacific, will be the speaker at the Shakespeare's birthday meeting of the Garden Section of the Carmel Woman's Club on Monday afternoon. She will discuss the 50 plants and flowers mentioned by Shakespeare in his writings and point out the garden settings he used in his plays. Bouquets of Carmel flowers will be used to illustrate the talk. Mrs. Farley will also show a film of Stratford featuring the garden at Shakespeare's birthplace, Anne Hathaway's cottage and the Knotted Garden at New Place.

Robert Sutton Born

Mr. and Mrs. John O. Sutton of Carmel Valley are first time parents. Their son, Robert Bardis, was born at the Peninsula Community Hospital on April 8 weighing six pounds, 12 ounces. Young Bob's father is the manager of the Rent-It-All store in Salinas.

All Saints' Rummage Sale

All Saints' Church Women's Auxiliary annual Rummage Sale will be held on May 17 and the women of the church are asking members of the parish and friends for almost anything that is movable and no longer wanted. They are especially interested in antiques, furniture, household goods, white elephants, garden equipment, jewelry, lingerie, clothing, curtains, bedding, linens, books, toys and pictures.

Arrangements for contributions to be collected may be made by calling Mrs. Charles Fox, 7-3738, or Mrs. Churchill Carmalt, 7-4333.

Seven For The Farrs

Bob and Nicky Niven of Los Angeles, nephews of Mrs. Fred Farr, will arrive on Friday evening with five of Bob's friends from Claremont Men's College to spend the weekend as guests of Senator and Mrs. Fred Farr, and attend the road races.

Pat and Suzanne's Party

Pat Timothy and Suzanne Pilot were co-hostesses at a dancing party on Saturday evening at Suzanne's house. They invited about 80 friends to spend the evening with them, and, in the course of the festivities, brought out a surprise birthday cake for Johnny Styles. Mr. and Mrs. Walt Pilot helped their daughter serve refreshments and were assisted by Pat's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Timothy, who moved to Carmel several months ago when Mr. Timothy brought station KMBY.

New P.T.A. Officers

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Leidig are to be the first presidents of the newly formed Carmel High School P.T.A. unit, the twentieth unit in the Twentieth District. Mr. and Mrs. Don Sands will be vice presidents; Mrs. Thomas Elston, secretary; and Lloyd Miller, treasurer.

The elections took place at the potluck dinner-white elephant auction meeting of the new group in the High School cafeteria on Tuesday evening, attended by 170 persons. By-laws of the organization were given their first reading and will be adopted after second reading at May 15 installation ceremonies.

One hundred and twenty-two persons became charter members of the High School P.T.A. on Tuesday evening and $70 was realized from the white elephant auction, conducted by demon auctioneers Donald Craig, Walt Pilot, Gordon Reid and Dale Leidig.

Nomination committee consisted of Mrs. Berny Roberts, chairman; Mrs. Walt Pilot, Mrs. Alphonse Elsen and Warren Edwards.

The by-laws were drawn up by a committee headed by Mrs. William Arley Smith, assisted by Mrs. Julian von Meier, Mrs. Fred Farr and Mrs. Verne Skillman.

Refreshments at the May 15 meeting will be served by the men of the group under the direction of Walter Stuefloten.

Mrs. Clyde Klaumann, vice-president in charge of the High School group under the old setup, as part of the Carmel P.T.A., conducted Tuesday night's meeting. Mrs. Wendell Wheaton of the District Council explained the organization procedures and Mrs. Allan E. Champe, secretary pro tem, read the minutes of the previous organizational meeting.

Pat Makes Fine Record

Pat Ricketts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Ricketts, has made an A average in first semester studies at Fresno State College where she is in her freshman year. Pat is majoring in business administration and minoring in journalism. Last year, as a member of the senior class at Carmel High School, she was student editor of the school edition of the Pine Cone. The 78 students at Fresno State to make so high an average as Pat's were guests of honor at the fourteenth annual scholarship banquet of the American Association of University Professors on the Fresno campus.

Penny Has Party

Penny Nielsen entertained a group of friends at a farewell party for Stephen Gray on Saturday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nielsen. Those who wished Stephen a fine European trip with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. K. Fillmore Gray, were Bobby Little, Mardi Lloyd, John Sullivan, Susan Shirley, Frank Mayo, Diane Shields, Mary Martin, Chris Wilkin, Joy Fehring, John Wilkin, Janice Way, Mike Draper, Pamela Petersen and Peter de Petra.

The Bishop Has Stamps

Bishop Winfred Ziegler was the speaker at the Monday meeting of The Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club at Carmel High School. His subject was My Experience in Stamp Collecting, and covered the time from 1911, when he had a parish at Valdez, Alaska, and started Boy Scout Troop 1 and interested them in stamps, to the present. Then followed a parish in Albuquerque, N.M., where he again interested young people in stamps. Finally in Elgin, Illinois, he started his son in stamps and formed a stamp club in church. It was here that the Bishop became interested in pre-cancelled stamps. A publishing company in Elgin printed their own precancels. He showed a frame of Elgin precancels and they are "beauties." He was transferred to Chicago and was kept busy establishing missions throughout the West, so he was able to collect more precancels from more towns.

When appointed Bishop of Wyoming he became too busy for 13 years to work with stamps. When he thought of stamps again he was broke financially, as well as physically, he says. He sold his general collection and sent his precancels to Society of Philatelic Americans, where they were sold piecemeal. When he got back the remnants, he declares there were more than he had sent, and the most valuable ones were still there.

He has built a beautiful cabinet so Mrs. Ziegler will let him pursue his hobby in the living room in their home in Carmel Highlands. He is no longer broke, either financially or physically, and is having a wonderful time, spreading the joys of stamp collecting to a small regiment of young people.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

How spiritual understanding of God, infinite Life, brings growth and progress to man will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Probation after Death" will include the following passages from the Bible (Ezekiel 18:31, 32): "Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby ye have transgressed; and make you a new heart and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel? For I have no pleasure in the death of him that dieth, saith the Lord God: wherefore turn yourselves, and live ye."

Correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (485:18-19): "Not death, but the understanding of Life, makes man immortal."

No. 17074

In the Matter of RANDALL THOMAS CUNNINGHAM, Person who Should be Declared Free from the Custody and Control of His Parent.

CITATION

To THOMAS O. CUNNINGHAM, also known as L. O. CUNNINGHAM, the father of the above named person who is described as follows:

A male child born to THOMAS O. CUNNINGHAM, also known as L. O. CUNNINGHAM, and BARBARA CUNNINGHAM, now BARBARA NEVIS, in San Jose, California, on the 26th day of August, 1947, under the name of RANDALL THOMAS CUNNINGHAM.

You are hereby notified that there has been filed in this Court the verified petition of ROBERT JAMES NEVIS and BARBARA NEVIS, alleging that the above mentioned child comes within the provisions of Sections 701 and 775 of the Welfare and Institutions Code of the State of California;

WHEREFORE, you are cited to appear before this Court, sitting as a Juvenile Court, at the Courtroom of said Court in Juvenile Hall, at the northeast corner of Market and St. James Streets, in the City of San Jose, County of Santa Clara, State of California, on Monday, June 11, 1956, at the hour of 2:00 p.m. of said day, then and there to show cause why the said child should not be adjudged an abandoned child, and why you as the father of said child, should not permanently be deprived of the custody and control of the said child by the written order of said Court as provided for in said Welfare and Institutions Code of the State of California.

And for failure to appear, you will be deemed in contempt of Court.

WITNESS: WILLIAM F. JAMES, Judge of the Juvenile Court of the County of Santa Clara, State of California, with the seal of said Court affixed, this 19th day of March, 1956.

John Kunstle In Road Races

The Kunstles stumbled on Carmel during John's cross-country traveling as a sales representative for an eastern firm, and in 1953 they, their second sports car—a Porsche—and their cocker spaniel came here to live. Sports cars became John's business as well as his pleasure; he entered a partnership in the Carmel Foreign Car Center, devoted more weekends to racing, and added new trophies to those he and the Porsche had collected in the east. Two years ago, the Kunstles decided to move permanently to Switzerland; car and furniture were sold, bags packed, reservations made. Shortly before they were due to leave, friends threw a farewell party for them, in the course of which the Kunstles suddenly discovered they didn't want to leave Carmel at all. They stayed, and in short order acquired a lagoon-front lot in the Mission Tract, another Porsche, and a German Shepherd dog, and started to build. When their post-adobe home was completed a year ago, John observed Swiss tradition by clambering up the roof proudly to fix an evergreen tree to the chimney top.

John, who celebrated his twenty-seventh birthday a week ago today, still retains a trace of French in his accent and Swiss in his sentiments. His racing clothes have Swiss crosses embroidered on the pockets, and a big Swiss flag will fly from his pit during the races. He has a Swiss fondness for fondue and skiing, and a continental taste in haberdashery, running to dashing ascots and orange button-down shirts (which, on him look fine). Now manager of the Volkswagen center in Monterey, this businessman and bon vivant looks the part of gentleman driver to perfection.

The race weekend will be an intense one for the Kunstles. Betsy is showing the current family car—a custom-bodied Fiat—in Saturday's Concours d'Elegance, and on Sunday will be in the pits to keep lap charts and times for her husband. John will be involved in strategy conferences and last-minute adjustments to the Porsche with his pit crew and the car's owner, Al Hoskings of Los Angeles. Saturday night, as vice-president of the Pebble Beach Sports Car Club, he'll be a host to visiting enthusiasts at a club-sponsored show at Sunset Auditorium.

The car John drives Sunday is the same in which he recently won the under-1500 [illegible] Palm Springs. Last fall, in another Spyder, he placed third overall in the grueling six-hour endurance race at Torrey Pines, driving against cars of all makes and sizes. His competition Sunday will be formidable: it includes 11 other Spyders, one of them the car which won the index of performance in the 12-hour international sports car races at Sebring, Florida, last month (an event which John attended in a rare capacity as spectator).

John will also be out to beat a jinx whic has frustrated him in two previous Pebble Beach races. In 1954, mechanical troubles forced his Porsche Coupe out of the running. Last year, he had his most mortifying racing experience: driving brilliantly in a two-cylinder, front-wheel-drive Devin Panhard — a little giant-killer in which he had humiliated cars of several times its power—John had a commanding lead in his class and was running fifth overall when, just a few short laps from the finish, he ran out of gas.

This year gives John his best chance yet to win on home ground; he has the car, the experience and the skill to do it.—V. Shaw.

CROSSING LIGHT IN WORKING ORDER

The crossing signals on Highway 1 in front of the entrance to Carmel High School were put in full operation for the first time yesterday afternoon. This is the end of 10 years of endeavor by the School Board, the P.T.A., the Pine Cone and interested citizens to have the State Division of Highways put in the installation protecting students crossing Highway 1 to enter the school grounds.

DIRECTORS MEETING ON FIRESTONE PLANT

Directors of Carmel Unincorporated will meet on the afternoon of April 26 at 2:00 o'clock in Room 12 of Carmel High School, to hear discussions immediately concerning their area by Larry Livingston, Jr., planning consultant for the City of Carmel, and Captain Frank W. MacDonald, who will discuss the proposed Firestone Laboratory.

Dr. Roderick Clayton Board Candidate

received his appointment at the Navy Post Graduate School.

He was born in Hinsdale, Illinois, but received his early education in the Pasadena schools continuing as a student at California Institute of Technology on a scholarship. He interrupted his studies at Cal Tech to join the army in 1942 but returned in 1946 at the end of four years army service. He graduated with a degree in physics and a major interest in biology. Receiving an Atomic Energy Commission fellowship research, he continued at Cal Tech as a graduate assistant for three years. In 1951 he obtained his doctorate degree in biology and the Merck post-doctorate fellowship which brought him to the Peninsula. Last summer he received a grant from the Lalor Foundation for a summer's work on nerve physiology at Woods Hole, Mass.

He and his wife, Betty Jean, have served during the past year as presidents of the Carmel Parent-Teacher Association. They have two children, Ricky, 11, in the fifth grade at Sunset School, and Anne, who is a kindergarten pupil at River School.
